Part 6 of 6

Being a member of the Knights of Columbus pays off...

- Knights of Columbus Insurance is specifically designed to take care of their valued members, rather than make money off them.
- Plus, the agents are members themselves, which means that they are more likely to look after policyholders.
- ...not to mention the fact that I snooped around a bit online and word on the street is that the other carriers can't compete. But hey, that's just hearsay. You never really know until you see the numbers in black and white.
- If you happen to be a member, or are interested in becoming a member, give them a call.

Knights of Columbus Insurance: The Bottom Line

The Knights of Columbus offer some of the highest-quality life insurance out there, and rank high on my list of life insurance providers.

To summarize, Knights of Columbus Insurance...

- They Offer: Life Insurance, Retirement Annuities, Disability Insurance & Long Term Care Insurance
- Yep! A solid offering of affordable and comprehensive insurance to meet your personal needs. All of that with a smattering of AWESOME customer service to top it off. I will however say, that their products are limited so if you're looking for a homeowner's policy or auto insurance, you need to look elsewhere.
- All Representative are Knights of Columbus Insurance Agents
- You deal with fellow members of Knights of Columbus, rather than an agent you may never see again.

There is something to be said for those personal connections.

Fraternal Benefits Are Provided

The Knights of Columbus don't just sell a policy and forget about you. There are Fraternal Perks, Survivor Benefits and Personal Financial Advice.

Knights of Columbus Offer Affordable Insurance Products

Yep! All indications are – the Knights of Columbus sell insurance as a service to their community members, not necessarily as a way to make a lot of money. ...and from what I read their prices are tough to beat.

Extraordinarily Financially Stable

Last but NOT least – if you're looking for a safe company to buy insurance from – there is nothing better in the market. The Knights of Columbus is a VERY solid company. You can sleep well knowing that your family won't have a hard time getting them to pay their claims.
